QUESTION 01

How did this month feel, in a few honest words?

- Y YOU
Full, surprising, and a little slower than I expected - in a good way.
- M MAYA
Restorative. I finally made room for weekends that did not need an itinerary.
- A ALEX
A little chaotic, but full of the kind of stories I know we will retell.
- J JORDAN
Hopeful. A lot of small things started moving in the right direction.

QUESTION 02

What was your favorite day this month, and why?

- Y YOU
The Saturday we got breakfast, walked by the water, and stayed out until sunset.
- M MAYA
Dinner at Jordan's. We planned to stay for an hour and somehow talked until midnight.
- A ALEX
The beach day - even the part where we forgot the towels and had to improvise.
- J JORDAN
My quiet Sunday morning with coffee, music, and nowhere I needed to be.

QUESTION 03

When did you practice gratitude this month?

- Y YOU
On a difficult Tuesday, I wrote down three ordinary things that were still good.
- M MAYA
Every time somebody in this group checked in without needing a reason.
- A ALEX
Driving home after the concert, tired and happy, with everyone singing badly.
- J JORDAN
When my mom called with good news and I remembered not to rush the conversation.

QUESTION 04

What did this month teach you about yourself?

- Y YOU
I do not need a perfect plan before I begin.
- M MAYA
Rest is more useful when I stop trying to earn it first.
- A ALEX
I am better at asking for help than I used to be.
- J JORDAN
Consistency can be quiet. It does not have to look impressive to count.
